State Police, who is in charge of the over-all investigation, said police have not decided when a witness to the abduction would take a polygraph (lie detector) test, but it probably would be sometime this weekend.

LUMPKIN SAID investigators are working on the theory that the slayer, quite possibly from Indianapolis, knew the Henry County area well where the body was found.

Contributions to the Jerry Bayles Reward Fund yesterday raised the total to $5,389.32.

This includes a $5,000 reward for information leading to the arrest and conviction of the slayer that has been offered by Eugene C. Pulliam, publisher of The Star and The Indianapolis News.

Yesterday's contributors included the Marion County Building Trades Council, $100; Frank Smock, 3545 Brewer Drive, $5; Alma Beaty, 1650 North Centennial Street, $1; David P. and Aileen Miller 1648 North Centennial, $5; Speed Queen Laundry & Dry Cleaning, 5601 North Keystone Avenue, $20; Mildred B. and Emma F. Scarbrough, 221 North 19th Avenue, Beech Grove, $3; J. D. Holbrooks, 811 North Capitol Avenue, $10, and from an anonymous donor, $10.
