Indianapolis Youth Indicted In Jackson Death

GREENFIELD, Ind. (AP)—A 19-year-old Indianapolis youth has been indicted for first-degree murder and sodomy by a Hancock County grand jury in the death of an Indianapolis high school freshman.

Jeff A. Bailey has been confined in the Hancock County jail. The indictment alleges Bailey choked and drowned Robert Jackson Jr., 15, Nov. 20 in Buck Creek south of Cumberland in Hancock County, Peter Shumacker, county prosecutor, said.

Bailey was arrested Dec. 22 in California for speeding and detained when state police there discovered a wanted notice for Bailey and the car he was driving.
