Gas Station Robbed Of Cash

A holdup man took from $30 to $50 last night from the cash register of the Star Service & Petroleum Company station, 502 West 16th Street, the assistant manager said he did not have the keys to the safe.

Paul Thomas McDougall, 26 years old, 1456 North Central Avenue, told police the man came into the station about 7:45 p.m. pointed a .38 caliber snub-nosed revolver at him and asked for the keys to the safe.

McDougall, said the man took the money and ran north from the station. He described the thief as a stocky Negro, between 30 and 35 years old.
